Mrs. Pearl C. Turner, 1102 N. High Street, Brady, Texas, states that her great-grandfather, William Moore, was born 1785 at "Mussel Shoals, N. C." She wishes to know where "Mussel Shoals" was located--what county. (There is a place called Muscle Shoals in Alabama.)

Harian Publications advise, under date of June 4th, that "How They Began--the Story of North Carolina County, Town, and Other Place Names" is now out of print and no longer available. This booklet was advertised in the June, 1955, issue of THE NORTH CAROLINIAN, page 34.

Under date of May 16th, Hubert H. Hawkins, Director of the Indiana Historical Bureau, writes: "We have been receiving an unusual number of requests for copies of our booklet, A Brief History of Indiana, which in part, at least, may be attributed to the little plug you gave the pamphlet on page 154 of your March issue. Our policy is now to charge ten cents for this pamphlet on all out-of-state requests largely as a matter of self protection. We have been filling the requests sent in without charge, but would appreciate it if you would make a note of present policy at your convenience." (On June 1st, in reply to a request for this pamphlet, the Indiana Historical Bureau stated: "...we are sorry to advise that our Brief History of Indiana is exhausted. We hope to have more printed later in the summer....")

The NORTH CAROLINA REFERENCE, a research guide for genealogists, is now being printed, and is expected to be ready for distribution around September 1st. The volume is designed specifically for the researcher interested in ancestors who lived in North Carolina. It contains a list of the county records found in the State Archives, a list of printed family histories found in the principal libraries of the State, charts (22 pages) showing wills, deeds, marriage records, births, deaths, land grants and entries found at the county courthouses and the State Archives and a fee schedule for obtaining copies of these records, a county map of North Carolina, a description of genealogical record sources, a list of professional genealogists in North Carolina, a guide for obtaining records from the Land Grant Office, from churches in North Carolina, and from the National Archives. Also included is the "Let's Exchange" section which contains approximately 4500 family lines in North Carolina on which genealogists are willing to exchange information, and Index to "Let's Exchange", hints for genealogical research, and other helpful information--all well indexed. The book of about 300 pages, sixe 9 x 6 inches, cloth binding, sells for $5.00. Send all orders to: Mr. Wallace R. Draughon, 709 East Trinity Avenue, Durham, North Carolina.

Did your ancestors live in South Carolina? If so, there are many records available in Columbia, South Carolina, that would aid in tracing them. If a genealogist is needed, try Harold M. DeLorme, Jr., a young man with a deep and sincere interest in the history and genealogy of that section. His rates are reasonable, and he makes field trips. Address: 3603 Monroe, Columbia 5, South Carolina.

A HINSHAW GENEALOGY is now being compiled and edited by Winford Calvin Hinshaw and William Perry Johnson. Included will be the ancestry and descendants of the Quaker Hinshaws from Ireland who settled in the 1760's in Orange, Chatham, Alamance, Randolph, Guilford, Surry, Wilkes and Yadkin Counties, North Carolina, and later in Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas and elsewhere. Hinshaws and Hinshaw descendants everywhere are urged to send in data on their branches of the family. Address: Mr. Winford Calvin Hinshaw, Box 531, Raleigh, North Carolina.

The 1800 census of North Carolina will be discontinued in THE NORTH CAROLINIAN. It would have taken "forever and a day" to publish it, a few pages at a time, in this magazine. Instead, the 1800 census will be published and sold separately, one county at a time, beginning with Anson County and running through all sixty counties that were in North Carolina in 1800, and ending with Wilkes County. The census data will be loose-leaf, and paged consecutively from Anson through Wilkes, and will be indexed upon completion. Counties may be purchased separately, if desired. Each county will be announced in this magazine as it is made available.

YOUR FAMILY COAT OF ARMS

Armorial bearings are hereditary. American descendants of British and Continental European families have the unquestionable right to display the arms of their ancestors. With the growing consciousness of pedigree and the increasing interest in genealogy among cultured Americans, the kindred subject of heraldry, which is equally important, is now experiencing a notable revival of the attention of cultured people.

The Hennessee Studio of Heraldic Art, in Salisbury, North Carolina, is among the largest private heraldic libraries in the country. Their heraldic and genealogical library has blazons (descriptions of arms in heraldic terms) of every family coat of arms ever granted--over half a million of them!

Mr. W. E. Hennessee, of the Hennessee Studio, has compiled a 45-page booklet entitled Your Family Coat of Arms published by the American Heraldic Association. This publication contains a wealth of interesting and worthwhile material pertinent to the fascinating subject of heraldry, and is written in terms that are easily understood. The Editors of TNC heartily recommend this booklet to all persons interested in heraldry. Your Family Coat of Arms sells for $1.75--address: Hennessee Studio, 324 West Thomas Street, Salisbury, N. Carolina.

This Studio has been in business for twenty-one (21) years and its chief business is the painting of family coats of arms and the formulating of fan-shaped genealogical charts. Mr. Hennessee, who directs the Studio, studied heraldic art at the College of Arms in London. He is an approved heraldic artist by the Library of Congress, the British National Library, and a member of the following genealogical and heraldic societies: Genealogical Society of Great Britain, Society of British Heraldists, Society of American Heraldists, American Society of Antiquarian, North Carolina Historical Society and the Rowan County Historical Society.

SOUTHERN BIBLE RECORDS

Mrs. Memory A. Lester of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, has compiled an invaluable book of Bible records, containing data on hundreds of Southern families. The volume, 125 pages reproduced by the ozalid process, contains 77 Bible records, from the early 1700's to the late 1800's. Many of the records are quite lengthy, covering two or three generations, giving maiden names of wives, names of in-laws and other relatives. Libraries maintaining a genealogical section will wish to add these Bible records to their reference section. The book sells for $6.50. Persons wishing copies of only one or two of the Bible records may obtain them for $1.00 each. Address: Mrs. Memory A. Lester, 606 Pittsboro Road, Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Follwing is a brief listing of the Bible records included in this volume:

EDGECOMBE COUNTY WILLS PUBLISHED

Edgecombe County, North Carolina, wills, from 1733 to 1856, have been carefully and skilfully abstracted and published by Mrs. Ruth Smith Williams and Mrs. Margaret Glenn Griffin of Rocky Mount, North Carolina. Included in the 1500 wills, in addition to detailed abstracts of the genealogical data, is much interesting information that will give a clear and concise picture of life in Edgecombe in Colonial times. Much of the original spelling and phraseology has been preserved, and items of human interest, as well as facts of historical and genealogical significance to the third and fourth generation. The book, 400 pages, size 6" x 9", cloth bound, is well indexed, and includes a large map of Edgecombe showing the counties taken from it. This volume is an invaluable contribution to the genealogical and historical field, and researchers everywhere will welcome it.

CASWELL COUNTY ADMINISTRATION BONDS, 1777-1799

Compiled by William Perry Johnson

Caswell County, North Carolina, was formed 1777 from Orange, and in 1791 Person County was formed from Caswell. These administration bonds, therefore, cover not only Caswell County, but also the Person County area from 1777 through 1791. The originals may be found in the office of the Clerk of Court in Yanceyville, N. C., county seat of Caswell County, in a drawer labeled "Inspectors Bonds, 1778-1845." This drawer was apparently overlooked by the W. P. A. Survey of 1938, conducted in Caswell County by Mr. Robert W. Phillips, Mrs. Annie Winstead Smith, and Mr. Henry S. Turner under supervision of Mrs. Betsey London Cordon and Mrs. Annette S. Tinsley. As a consequence, these bonds are not included in The Historical Records of North Carolina, The County Records, Vol. I, Alamance through Columbus, edited by Charles Christopher Crittenden and Dan Lacy, and published in 1938 by The North Carolina Historical Commission.

There are 158 administration bonds for the 1777-1799 period, and it is interesting to note that for the very same period there are 179 wills. Administration bonds, incidentally, were issued when a person died intestate (without a will) and left personal property and/or real estate to be distributed among his (or her) heirs.

CORRECTION

Contributed by James G. W. MacClamroch,
County Historian of Guilford County, North Carolina

As to the date of the formation of Chatham, Guilford, Surry and Wake Counties, these counties were formed in 1771--not in 1770 as about everyone who has written on the subject has it. The bills to establish these counties were not passed in the colonial legislature until the latter part of January, 1771, and I suppose the way the error got started was by reason of the fact that the volume of laws of that session of the colonial Assembly is called the "Laws of 1770" when they probably should have been called the "Laws of 1770-1771", the legislative session having started in December, 1770. The error is to be found in Wheeler's History, Dr. Kemp P. Battle's "The Names of the Counties of North Carolina", and in Corbitt's "The Formation of the North Carolina Counties, 1663-1943", and in Corbitt and Denmark's chart.

(Editors' Note: The dates of formation of the above-mentioned counties were as follows: Chatham, bill passed 26 January 1771, to become effective 1 April 1771; Guilford, bill passed 12 March 1771, to become effective 1 April 1771; Surry, bill passed 14 January 1771, to become effective 1 April 1771; Wake, bill passed 26 January 1771, to become effective 12 March 1771. It is interesting to note that the four counties were formed as a direct result of the Regulators, who were numerous in those areas.)

1755 TAX LIST OF BEAUFORT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA

Compiled by William Perry Johnson

Beaufort County, North Carolina, actually dates from 1705 when Bath County was divided into Archdale, Pamptecough and Wickham Precincts. In or near the year 1712 the name of Pamptecough Precinct was changed to Beaufort Precinct, and in 1739 Beaufort Precinct became Beaufort County. (See pages 165-172 of the June, 1956, issue of THE NORTH CAROLINIAN.)

This 1755 tax list included all of present-day Beaufort and Pitt Counties (Pitt formed 1760 from Beaufort), and the northeastern half of Pamlico County (Pamlico formed 1872 from Beaufort and Craven).

Of the total of 1305 taxables in Beaufort County 1755, 744 were white and 561 were black. There were 576 households or heads of families.

The original 1755 tax list of Beaufort County is in File No. T. O. 105.1 in the State Department of Archives and History, Raleigh, North Carolina.
